

CONTENTS

Foreword, by James C. Giesen and Erin Stewart Mauldin	vii
Acknowledgments	xi

THOMAS BLAKE EARLE AND D. ANDREW JOHNSON

Atlantic, Environmental, Southern: Toward a Confluence	i
--	---

Part I. Slavery and Climate

SEAN MOREY SMITH

Differentiating Hot Climates in the Anglo-American Colonial Experience	21
---	----

ELAINE LAFAY

“The Wind Can Blow Through and Through”: Ventilation, Public Health, and the Regulation of Fresh Air on Antebellum Southern Plantations	38
---	----

Part II. Slavery and Landscape

MATTHEW MULCAHY

“Miserably Scorched”: Drought in the Plantation Colonies of the British Greater Caribbean	65
--	----

HAYLEY NEGRIN

Native Women Work the Ground: Enslavement and Civility in the Early American Southeast	90
---	----

Part III. Empire and Infrastructure

BRADFORD J. WOOD

Ocean Graveyards and Ulterior Atlantic Worlds: The Experience of Colonial North Carolina	113
---	-----

FRANCES KOLB

Profitable Transgressions: International Borders and British Atlantic Trade Networks in the Lower Mississippi Valley, 1763–1783	135
--	-----

Part IV. Empire and Expertise

MELISSA N. MORRIS

Spanish and Indigenous Influences on Virginian Tobacco Cultivation 157

KEITH PLUYMERS

Environmental Knowledge, Expertise, and the Development of Slavery in Bermuda 176

PETER C. MESSER

The Nature of William Bartram's Travels 195

Afterword, by Alejandra Dubcovsky 215

Contributors 219

Index 221