

Table of contents

List of Illustrations

Notes on Contributors

Acknowledgments

List of Abbreviations

Introduction

1. Algerians in the French Army, 1914-1918: From Military Integration to the Dawn of Algerian Patriotism

Gilbert Meynier* (Emeritus Professor, Nancy II University)

2. Feeding Muslim Troops during the First World War

Emmanuelle Cronier* (Senior Lecturer, University of Picardie)

3. Muslim Askaris in the Colonial Troops of German East Africa, 1889-1918

Tanja Bühner* (Visiting Professor, University of Rostock)

4. Turkic Muslims in the Russian Army: From the Beginning of the First World War to the Revolution of 1917

Salavat M. Iskhakov* (Senior Researcher, Institute of Russian History)

5. Between 'Non-Russian Nationalities' and Muslim Identity: Perceptions and Self-Perceptions of Soviet Central Asian Soldiers in the Red Army, 1941-1945

Kiril Feferman* (Research Fellow, USC Shoah Foundation Center for Advanced Genocide Research)

6. Islam, a 'Convenient Religion'? The Case of the 13th SS Division Handschar

Xavier Bougarel* (Research Fellow, Centre d'Études Turques, Ottomanes, Balkaniques et Centrasiatiques)

7. The Officer for Muslim Military Affairs in the First French Army, 1944-1945: An Agent of Control or an Intermediary?
Claire Miot (Département de Sciences Sociales, École Normale Supérieure)

8. Haunted by Jinns. Dealing with War Neuroses among Muslim Soldiers during the Second World War
Julie Le Gac (Postdoctoral Fellow, University of Paris IV Sorbonne)

9. 'Allah Might Provide the Fuel': Muslim Sailors in British Colonial Navies, from the Second World War to Independence
Daniel Owen Spence (Senior Lecturer, University of the Free State)

Glossary

Index