Illustrations ix

Acknowledgments xiii

Introduction. "Me No B'longs to Dem": Emancipation's Possibilities and Limits in Antigua 1

1. A Landscape That Continually Recurred in Passing: The Many Worlds of a Small Place 21

2. So Them Make Laws for Negro, So Them Make Law for Master: Antigua's 1831 Sunday Market Rebellion 57

3. But Freedom till Better: Labor Struggles after 1834 84

4. An Equality with the Highest in the Land?: The Expansion of Black Private and Public Life 117

5. Sinful Conexions: Christianity, Social Surveillance, and Black Women's Bodies in Distress 142

6. Mashing Ants: Surviving the Economic Crisis after 1846 167

7. Our Side: Antigua's 1858 Uprising and the Contingent Nature of Freedom 195

8. "My Color Broke Me Down": Postslavery Violence and Incomplete Freedom in the British Caribbean 224

Notes 233

Bibliography 287

Index 309